

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

For business news see Advertiser in this Column at the rate of $1 per line per month.

A. L. Madsen, Wheeling and other Ales, at 1, W. Webster.

A. L. KAHN, Importer of Goods at Wasmuth.

BOURLIER & WIEBER—Jewelry and ornaments.

BOWEN & THOMAS, J.—Bacon, Coffee, Spice and Tea.

COMMANDER OF DEBTS—For all the debts and Notes of the public. Office, Jefferson.

CROKEY, WILLIAM—Dealer in Paper and Stationery, 100 South Main street, between Jefferson and Green.

CROOK & GOODMAN—Importers and dealers in Wabash, Jewelry, Diamonds, Silver and Plate.

DEMOCRATIC—Books and Paper Printing.

DRUGGISTS & APOTHECARY—100 South Main street, between Jefferson and Green.

GAY'S CHINA PALACE—Corner Fourth and Green.

H. J. HILL & S. KELLEY—Attorneys at Law.

H. A. HAYS, WILL S.—Dealer in Sheet Music.

H. A. HAYS, ROBERT—Attorney at Law, Center Street, Jefferson.

J. M. WRIGHT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, No. 1, Hamilton Building, corner Sixth and Main.

J. M. WRIGHT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, corner Sixth and Main, and Johnson.

KENNEDY & IRWIN—Coal Dealers, No. 100 Main street, between Jefferson and Green.

M. J. LEE, C. R. & SON—Books and Stationery.

Q. C. GARNER & J. DOLINGER, G. Co., No. 100 Main street, between Third and Fourth sts.

REAL STATE AGENTS—K. P. THIXTON & CO., 100 Main street, between Green and Jefferson.

R. F. BURRILL & CO.—Wholesale dealers in 500 Main street, Wabash, Indiana.

SCALPPE & ANDREWTHAW—Architects.

SCOTT & HAMILTON—Building, corner Sixth and Main.

SHOES—Grosvenor, Electric Year.

WILSON, PETER & CO.—Wholesale Importers and Producers of the Louisville Chemical Works.

WARNER'S SMOKERY—Emporium—Best brands Cigars and Tobacco.

Daily Democrat.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY HARNEY, HUGHES & CO.

—OFFICES—

South side Green Street, two doors below the Customhouse.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1868.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For President.

MORATI, SEYMOUR, of New York.

For Vice President.

FRANK P. BLAIR, of Missouri.

For the State at Large.

Frank Wolford, of Casey.

David B. Bright, of Carroll.

By District.

First—Hon. J. A. McCracken, Assistant Secretary, W. K. L. Hopkins, Assistant.

Third—W. W. Bishop, Simpson, Assistant.

Fourth—A. H. Field, Bullitt, Assistant.

Fifth—W. B. Windham, Jefferson, Assistant.

Sixth—J. C. Galtin, Gallatin, Assistant.

Seventh—J. Q. Chenoweth, Mercer.

Eighth—H. Rockwell, Estill, Assistant.

Ninth—John M. Rice, Lawrence, Assistant.

Tenth—A. T. C. Cook, of Kentucky.

FOR CONGRESS.

BOTH WINCHESTER, of Jefferson.

FOR STATE SENATE.

(Thirty-ninth, 40th, 41st, 42d, 43d, 44th, 45th and 46th Wards of Louisville and Jefferson County.)

E. D. STANFORD.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements 10 cents per line, solid ad.

For first insertion, five cents for line for all subsequent insertions.

25 cents per line, "Special Notices" 10 cents per line insertion.

A discount of 10 per cent, for all prepaid advertisements by the month or quarter.

THE Object of Reconstruction.

A brief of the origin and growth of reconstruction will of itself show the progress of parties, and the cause of errors.

New Orleans was captured in 1862, and one year later, November 14, 1863.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election of members of Congress from districts first and second, but they were denied their seats.

The State Government was reorganized, Michael Hahn made Governor, and a Legislature elected him Senator. Governor Wells was elected for the succeeding term, but was unopposed to Gen. Sheridan, and a new one was appointed.

Lincoln, in 1863, made proclamation inviting the Southern States to erect governments, refusing, at Congressional dictation, to set aside those of Arkansas and Louisiana. Lincoln also, January, 1864, ordered General Steele to hold an election in Arkansas and a new State Government, Isaac M. Hopper, was set up. The State was to be admitted, but the new one was denied its seats.

General Sherman issued the order for the election

